Introduction

Many hours have been spent in gathering and compiling the data that makes up this genealogy of the Chipman family; a correspondence has been carried on extending to every part of the United States and Canada, requiring several thousand letters; but it has been a pleasant task.

What is proposed by genealogical research is not to laud individuals, nor to glorify such families as would otherwise remain without glory. Heraldic arms have as little worth as military aside from the worth of those bearing them. Not the armor but the army merits and should best repay describing.

It has been my earnest desire to make this work as complete and accurate as possible. In this connection I wish to acknowledge the valuable aid in research work rendered by Mr. W. A. Chipman (1788), Mr. S. L. Chipman (1959), Mrs. B. W. Gillespie (see 753) and Mrs. Margaret T. Reger (see 920).

ARMS OF CHIPMAN

Orgin

THE NAME CHIPMAN is of English origin, early existing in various forms such as,—Chipenham, Chippenham, Chiepman and Chipnam. The name is to be found quite frequently in the books prepared by the Record Commission appointed by the British Parliament, and from 1085 to 1350 it usually appears with the prefix de, as,—de Chippenham.

Several towns in England bear the name in one of its forms, for instance:

Chippenham, Buckingham Co., twenty-two miles from London, is "a Liberty in the Parish and Hundred of Burnham, forming a part of the ancient demesnes of the crown and said to be the site of a palace of the Mercian kings."

Chippenham, Cambridge Co., sixty-one miles from London, is "a Parish in the Hundred of Staplehou, a discharged Vicarage in the Archdeaconry of Suffolk and Diocese of Norwich."

Chippenham, Wilts Co., ninety-three miles from London, is "a Borough, Market-town and Parish in the Hundred of Chippenham and a place of great antiquity. In the time of King Alfred it was one of the finest towns in the kingdom."

The earliest public mention of the name, which we find, is of Willielmus de Chippenham who was chairman of the commissioners in the Hundred of Staplehou, Cambridge County, England, and who by the order of William the Conqueror took an inventory of the extensive estates possessed by the Monastery of Ely in 1085. The original record of that survey is preserved among the Cottonian Manuscripts and is marked "Tiberius A. VI."

From 1085 to 1567 the name appears in the books prepared by the Record Commission and other works equally authentic.

The Chipman lineage in America is traced from at least four of the passengers from England to America in the Mayflower. John Howland and his wife Elizabeth Tillie (parents of Hope, first wife of John Chipman) having, along with her parents John and Elizabeth Tillie, come to America in that brave little company. And a little further down the line, Priscilla, wife of Seth Chipman (18) and daughter of Maj. John Bradford, was descended from Gov. Bradford and her mother was Mercy Warren whose ancestor also came to America in the Mayflower. So that branch of the Chipman family descended from Seth Chipman (18) can trace their descent from six if not eight of the Mayflower passengers.

The Chipmam Arms

THE Chipman Arms have in their coloring and otherwise enough appearance of antiquity to render it quite certain that the picture was made in England.

The arms are described as follows,—"Ar. a bend betw. six estoiles gu. Crest—a leopard sejant ar. murally crowned;" or less technically,–"Upon a white shield or escutcheon a red shoulder belt between six red stars. Seated above the shield a white leopard, on his head a red mural crown." This description is given by Messrs. Burke as pertaining to the Chipmans once residing in Bristol, England.

Messrs. Burke say,–"The crest or cognizance served to distinguish the combatants in battle or tournament;" and M. Pory says,–"A mural crown was conferred on him who first, at an assault, mounted the walls of a besieged town and there set up a standard." So then, the Chipman to whom was originally awarded this coat of arms was a soldier approved and rewarded for his valor.

The Genealogy

Thomas Chipman was born, probably in Whitechurch, near Dorchester, England about 1567; died about 1623. He owned property in Whitechurch which yielded him an income of £50 per annum. In 1775, Thomas Chipman of Salisbury, Conn., caused inquiries to be made by Silas Dean or Benj. Franklin, colonial agents in England, in regard to the estate, and ascertained that it lay as above described and that the rental was £500. He was prevented from prosecuting his claim by the breaking out of the Revolution and its consequences.

Thomas Chipman married, about 1590, ——— ———— who died about 1637. We find mention of but three children,—

1. John.
   Hannor (Hannah?)
   Tumsum (Thomasine?)

First Generation

1. John Chipman was born, probably at Bryans-Piddle, near Dorchester, England, about 1614; died April 7, 1708. Always brotherless and early left fatherless, he sailed from Barnstable, Devon County, England, in May 1631, in the ship Friendship, arriving in Boston, July 14, 1631. John Chipman was the first and only one of the name to seek a home in America, and up to 1850 there was no Chipman in this country who was not descended from him.

On March 2, 1642 he brought a suit against his cousin, John Derby, to recover money which he affirmed the said John Derby unjustly witheld from him. How this suit resulted does not appear. John Chipman was for successive years a selectman, then in Plymouth Colony invested with the authority of a magistrate, and was often a "Deputy to Court;" and he with three assistants was designated to frequent the early Quaker meetings and "endeavor to reduce them from the errors of their wayes." He became on June 30, 1653, as his wife had become Aug. 7, 1650, a member of the church at Barnstable, Mass., and its records state that, "Henry Cobb and John Chipman were chosen and ordained to be ruling elders of this same church and were solemnly invested with office upon ye 14th day of April, A. D. 1670."

In 1646 John Chipman married Hope, second daughter of John and Elizabeth (Tillie) Howland, born in Plymouth, Mass., 1629; died 1683. There stands, or lately stood, in the ancient burial ground on Lothrop Hill in Barnstable, Mass., a headstone denoting where was "interred ye body of Mrs. Hope Chipman, wife of Elder John Chipman."

In 1684 he married Ruth, youngest daughter of William Sargent, born in Charlestown, Mass., Oct. 25, 1642; died in Sandwich, Mass., Oct. 4, 1713. She had previously married Jonathan Winslow of Marshfield, and after his decease she married, in July 1677, Rev. Richard Bourne who died in 1682.

The will of John Chipman, dated Nov. 12, 1702, proved May 17, 1708, mentions his "wife Ruth," the children named below and his "grandchildren Mary Gale and Jabez Dimock, and his friend Mr. (Rev.) Jonathan Russell of Barnstable."

His children were all by his first marriage and except a son and daughter who died in infancy, all survived him as follows,—

2. Samuel, born April 15, 1661
3. John, March 3, 1670
4. Elizabeth, June 24, 1647
   m. Hosea Joyce.
5. Hope, Aug. 31, 1652
   m. 1st, Jno. Huckins; 2nd, Jonathan Cobb.
6. Lydia, Dec. 25, 1654
   m. John Sargent of Malden, Mass.
7. Hannah, Jan. 14, 1658
   m. 1680, Thomas Huckins.
8. Ruth, Dec. 31, 1663
   m. 1682, Eleazer Crocker.
9. Bethia, July 1, 1666
   m. Shubael Dimock.
10. Mercy, Feb. 6, 1668
    m. 1699, Nathan Skiff.
11. Desire, Feb. 26, 1673
    m. 1695, Col. Melatiah Bourne.

Second Generation

2. Samuel Chipman, first son of John Chipman (1) was born in Barnstable, Mass., April 15, 1661; died in 1723. He resided in Barnstable, was often employed in its local affairs and was esteemed by its citizens. He built, on the paternal homestead near the Custom House the "Chipman Tavern" which continued in the line of his posterity until 1830. He became a member of the church Aug. 16, 1691 and, as the records state, was ordained a deacon Sept. 1, 1706. Said to have been a carpenter, he was by record a "yoeman and an innholder."

On Dec. 27, 1686 he married Sarah, twelfth child of Ru. Elder Henry Cobb and his wife Sarah, of Barnstable, born March 10, 1663; died Jan. 8, 1743. Samuel Chipman's will dated Aug. 31, 1722, proved June 17, 1723, mentions his wife and the chldren named below.

Eleven children,—

3. Hon. John Chipman, second sond of John Chipman (1), was born in Barnstable, Mass., March 3, 1670; died Jan. 4, 1756. In Massachusetts he was a magistrate, a member of the General Court, a justice of the Court of Common Pleas, 1722. In Rhode Island, where he lived after 1727, he was first of the six Associates of that colony and with the other Associates, the Governor and Philip Cortland and Daniel Horsemanden of the New York Council, was a member of the Commissioners of Review appointed by royal authority, who met at Norwich, Conn., and decided Connecticut's course toward the Indians.

He married, first, Mary, a daughter of Capt. Stephen Skiff of Sandwich, born Nov. 13, 1671; died Mar. 12, 1711; second, Elizabeth, widow of ———— Russell and previously of ———— Pope and daughter of Thos. Handley, died Jan. 29, 1725; third Hannah Hoxie of Rhode Island who died Feb. 21, 1747.

Ten children by first wife, two by second,—

32. Handley, Aug. 31, 1717
33. Rebecca, Nov. 10, 1719
    m. Capt. Moor.

Third Generation

12. Thomas Chipman, oldest son of Samuel Chipman (2), was born in Barnstable, Mass., Nov. 17, 1687; baptised Aug. 30, 1691; died Aug. 5, 1752. He lived in Stonington, Conn., and Dec. 27, 1714 became a resident of Groton, Conn. In the latter place he was chosen tavern-keeper, March 17, 1715; a lister and rate-maker, Dec. 29, 1716. He bought land of Robert Burrows and of Joseph Page, executor of Jos. Saxton of Stonington, by deed recorded June 3, 1716, a part or all of which land he conveyed to his father June 3, 1717. He was one of the early members of the church in Groton. He removed to Salisbury in 1741, settling near Lamb's Iron Works, and was the proprietor of a saw and grist mill there. His name preceeded by that of the pastor-elect appears with nine others as a founder of the Salisbury Congregational Church organized in 1744. He was the treasurer and a selectman of Salisbury in 1744 and the Justice of the Peace first commissioned there. On the organization of Litchfield County, 1751, he was appointed the first Associate Judge of the County Court.

He married at Stonington, Conn., April 26, 1711, Abigail Lothrop, probably either the daughter, born April 23, 1689, of John and Mary (Cobb) Lothrop, or the daughter born Aug. 10 1693, of Samel and Hannah (Crocker) Lothrop, both of which were of the prosterity of Rev. John Lothrop.

Ten children,—

34. Thomas, born June 4, 1712

35. Abigail — Dec. 9, 1714; d. inf.
36. Abigail, — June 27, 1716
37. Sarah, — July 7, 1718

41. John, — about 1726
42. Amos, — about 1727
43. Jonathan, — Oct. 24, 1729

13. Samuel Chipman, second son of Samuel Chipman (2), was born Aug. 6, 1689; died 1753. He lived in Barnstable, Mass., successor to his father's estate, business and offices. His time and himself are illustrated, not only by his wearing garments the buttons on which were dollars and smaller coins, but by such exponents of wealth and position as a "negro boy" sold to him in 1728 by the executors of the estate of a late neighbor, and an "Indian Squa" assigned to him in 1749 to serve him "Three Years and Four Months" because she had stolen from him "On the Lords day the ninth of July Currant and On last Lords day Six Quarts of Rhum of Value Thirteen Shillings and Fou Pence." Having joined the church about 1720 he was chosen deacon Aug. 19, 1725.

He married, first, Dec. 8, 1715, Abiah, daughter of John Hinkley, Jr., born March 24, 1696; died July 15, 1736; second, May 31, 1739, Mary, widow of ———— Green.

Samuel Chipman had by his first marriage six sons and two daughters, one son by the latter,—

44. A son, — born — d. inf.
45. Hannah, — July 1, 1719
46. Samuel, — Nov. 25, 1721

    m. 1749, Samuel Jenkins.
51. Nathaniel, Jan. 31, 1732
52. Joseph, May 26, 1740; died

14. Rev. John Chipman, third son of Samuel Chipman (2), was born in Barnstable, Feb. 16, 1691; died March 23, 1775. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1711 and was ordained, Dec. 28, 1715, as pastor of the First Church in the precinct of Salem and Beverly now North Beverly, Mass. The Essex Gazette, Vol. II, No. 59, contains an article which furnishes an illustration of Mr. Chipman and his parishioners and the general spirit that pervaded New England at that time, 1769. In compliance with Mr. Chipman's request the church ordained Rev. Enos Hitchcock pastor-associate, May 1, 1771.

John Chipman showed his love for christian doctrine and his vigilant care to maintain its purity in a work which he and Rev. Samuel Wigglesworth published in 1746. The Essex Gazette, Vol. VII, from March 28, to April 4, 1775 contains an obituary notice of him which is a glowing tribute to his memory.

His will is dated July 4, 1769, proved April, 4 1775.

He married, first, Feb. 12, 1719, Rebecca, daughter of Robert Hale, born Nov. 19, 1701; died July 4, 1751; second, Nov. 20, 1751, Hannah, daughter of Joseph Warren of Roxbury, born March 31, 1707; died June 24, 1769.

Fifteen children, all by first marriage,—

53. Elizabeth, born Dec. 21, 1719
m. 1st 1737, Rev. John Warren; 2nd Rev. Joseph Swain.
54. Sarah, Nov. 20, 1721; d. inf.

66. Abigail, Jan. 11, 1745
m. 1776, Capt. William Groves.
67. Benjamin, June 8, 1751

17. Jacob Chipman, fifth son of Samuel Chipman (2) was born in Barnstable, Mass., Aug. 30, 1695; died 1741. About all that is known of the life of Jacob Chipman is gleaned from his will which is dated at Halifax, Mass., Sept. 17, 1740. From this it is learned that he was about to join an expedition, against the Spaniards in the West Indies, which sailed from Massachusetts in October 1740. This expedition, under Commodore Vernon consisted of a large English fleet with 15000 sailors and 12000 land forces. The colonies contributed 3,600 and of these Massachusetts furnished five companies out of which only fifty men returnd. It was a disasterous expedition; the yellow fever broke out among the sailors and soldiers and hundreds died daily. Jacob Chipman's will was probated at Plymouth, Mass., Nov. 2, 1741, which shows that he lost his life in the Spanish expedition. The will mentions his wife Bethiah, two daughters by his first wife and one son and seven daughters by the second wife.

Jacob Chipman married first, Oct. 25, 1721, Abigail Fuller; second, 1725, Bethiah Thomas.

Children,—

68. Sarah, born Nov. 23, 1722
    m. 1st, John Chipman (41); 2nd, Samuel Keep.

127. Nathaniel Chipman LL. D., second son of Samuel Chipman (38), was born in Salisbury, Conn., Nov. 27, 1752; died Feb. 15, 1843. He was graduated from Yale College in 1777 and on April 4th of the same year was made Second Lieutenant in the company commanded by Capt. David Parsons. He was in the Camp at Valley Forge, 1777-8, and at the battle of Monmouth, N. J., June 1778. Admitted to the Bar in Litchfield County, Conn., in March 1779, after only about 5 months study, he began the practice of law the following month at Tinmouth, then the shire town of Rutland County, Vermont, and at once became prominent. In October 1789 he was elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Vermont and continued in that office until Oct. 1791 when he was appointed Judge of the U. S. Supreme Court for the district of Vermont. He was a representative to the State Legislature 1784, 1785, 1805-10 and States Attorney for Rutland 1781-4. In 1793 he published a work entitled "Sketches of the Principles of Government" and a small volume entitled, "Reports and Dissertations." Soon after this he resigned the office of District Judge and returned to his practice at the bar, in which he continued until 1796 when he was again elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. In 1797 he was elected U. S. Senator for a term of six years beginning March 4, 1798. In 1816 he was appointed professor of law in Middlebury College and in 1833 he published a work entitled, "Principles of Government." Through his correspondence and influence with Alexander Hamilton, 1778, the way was prepared for the settlement of a long controversy, regarding territory, between Vermont and New York. He was through life a profound student of Hebrew, Latin and Greek. A "Life of Nathaniel Chipman," by his brother Daniel Chipman LL. D., was published in 1846.

On Sept. 13, 1781, he married Sarah Hill of Tinmouth, Vt., born March 20, 1762.

Jonathan Sewall, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Mass. Ward Chipman and Daniel Leonard with fifteen other names appeared upon "The Loyal Address" to Gov. Gage on his departure from Boston in 1775, as "of those Gentlemen who were driven from their Habitations in the country to Boston." Mr. Chipman went with the British to Halifix, N. S., and thence to England, being "obliged to abandon his native land on the evacuation of Boston in 1776. Having repaired to England, the Royal bounty bestowed on him a pension in common with a long list of his suffering fellow-countrymen; but a state of inaction being ill-suited to his ardent mind, in less than a year he relinquished his pension and rejoined the King's troops at New York where he was employed in the Military Department and in the practice of the Court of Admiralty until the peace of 1783. On the first erection of this province (New Brunswick), he was appointed Solicitor General and continually afterward bore a conspicuous and most useful part in its affairs as an Advocate at the Bar, a Member of his Majesty's Council, a member of the House of Assembly, a Judge of the Supreme Court, and Agent on the part of his Majesty before several Commissioners for settling disputed points of boundary with the United States, until he closed his mortal career while administering the Government of the Province as President and Commander in Chief during a vacancy in the office of Lieut. Governor." The inscription on his monument at St. John, N. B., adds to the above quoted statements the following,—"Distinguished during the whole of his varied and active life for his superior abilities and unweariable zeal, for genuine integrity and singular humanity and benevolence, his loss was universally deplored; and this frail tribute from his nearest connections affords but a feeble expression of the affectionate respect with which they cherished the memory of his virtues."

His father having been drafted into the Continental service in 1777 he, from patriotism and consideration of his father's position at the head of a large family, volunteered to serve as his substitute. In that capacity he was with the American forces between Ticonderoga and Fort Schyuler, N. Y., and in the engagement at Battle Hill, N. Y. In 1783, while assisting in the original survey of the townships of Bridport and Shoreham, Vt., he selected for himself a lot in Shoreham. He lived on it alone seeing only now and then a man for months together and never a woman or child until, having got his land in cultivation, he brought to it his wife. In 1798 he was Assistant Assessor of the United States in District No. 1 of the Fourth Division of Vermont.

He was raised through various grades in succession to Major-General of the Fourth Division of Vermont Militia. During the last war with England his military spirit was aroused and he was placed at the head of the Vermont Volunteers assembled as a reinforcement of the U. S. troops preceeding the Battle of Plattsburg, N. Y., on Sept. 11, 1814. He was one of the first Presidents of the Addison County Agricultural Society.

326. John Huston Chipman, oldest son of Rev. Thomas Handley Chipman (118), was born in Annapolis, N. S., June 12, 1781; died ———. A farmer living at Wilmot, N. S. He was a Captain of Militia and held various civic offices. The following anecdote is told of his maternal grandfather, John Huston Esq., formerly a resident of Boston, Mass., "at which place, on entering in, he beheld a lad by the name of Brook Watson in a very forlorn condition. The landlady informed him that he was one of a part of the crew of an English ship who were swimming in the harbor one day and was pursued by a shark which overtook him at the moment he was reaching the boat, and severed from his body one of his legs; the captain left him to her care, with a small sum of money which was now expended. Mr. Huston's benevolent heart could not forbear, and he took him home, educated him and brought him up. Brook Watson afterwards arose to be Lord Mayor of London, when he sent for John Huston Chipman, eldest son of T. Handley Chipman, with a promise to do something handsome for him, but his pious father, foreseeing the evil attending a youth in going to London, declined the offer. Later the Lord Mayor made this only grandson of his honored benefactor a present of a farm at Cornwallis, N. S., to the value of £450."

He married, first Hopestead, daughter of Maj. Timothy Barnaby and his wife Rebecca (Chipman 33); second, March 2, 1847, Ann, widow of ——— Prince and daughter of George Johnson of Horton, N. S.

To very few is it given to live so long, and to a still smaller number is it given to preserve the mental and physical faculties and to engage in the active duties of life for such a length of years. His father had represented Kings County in the legislature, and when he retired in 1827, he (Samuel) succeeded him, winning his election by a majority of over 1000. From that date up to 1870, with the exception of two terms, he represented the county either in the assembly or in the legislative council. On his retirement from political life in 1870, being then 80 years of age, he was appointed registrar of deeds for Kings County, and continued to perform the duties of the office for eighteen years, when the failure of his sight made it necessary for him to retire.

He was a man whose integrity was never questioned. His public life was honorable and his private life without stain. He was distinguished as the oldest Freemason in the world, having been made a Master Mason in Virgin Lodge of Halifax in December, 1813.

He married, first, May 11, 1815, Eli ab th, daughter of Col. Henry Gesner, born 1792; died 1833; second, Dec. 8, 1841, Jessie W., daughter of Thomas and Jessie Hardy of Scotland.

Sir Leonard Tilley married (second wife) Alice Starr (909) daughter of Zachariah Chipman of St. Stephen, N. B., in 1867

Their children are Herbert C. Tilley of the Imperial Trust Co., St. John, N. B. and L. P. DeWolfe Tilley, barrister of the same place.

Sir Leonard's second marriage was contracted at the time when he was exchanging the limited field of provincial politics for the wider sphere which confederation opened up to him in the Parliament of Canada. It was a fortunate union, for it gave him a helpmeet and companion who was in full sympathy with him in all his hopes and feelings and who was singularly well qualified to preside over his household, which in his capacity of a minister of the Crown, had become to a considerable extent a factor in the public life of Canada. Lady Tilley had a high ideal of her duty as the wife of a cabinet minister and of the Gov. of New Burnswick, and was not content to lead a merely ornamental life or confine her energies within a narrow range.

She saw many deficiencies in our appliances for relieving human misery and with a zeal which could not be dampened, she sought to remedy them. The Victoria Hospital at Fredericton is her work. Here also is the Nurses' home in connection with the Public Hospital in St. John and the Reformatory for the bad or neglected boys. In every work of philanthropy Lady Tilley has always taken not only an active but a leading part, and her position has enabled her to enlist in the cause of humanity the energies of many who under other circumstances might not have given their attention to philanthropic work. He studied law with his father and was admitted to the bar at Rutland, Vt., in Nov. 1806. Having spent the next year in Jamacia, W. I., he then spent a year in the office of Hon. Charles C. Pinckney of Charleston, S. C. He resided, practicing law, in Walterboro, S. C., 1808-24. Having a disgust for slavery which his wife, though a planter's daughter, shared they moved in 1824 to Detroit, Mich. In company with a distinguished journalist of the time he at first edited and published one of the earliest newspapers in the territory, "The Michigan Herald." In 1825 and 1840-3 he was Chief Justice of Wayne Co. Court; and 1827-32 he was one of the U. S. Judges for Michigan Territory. In 1841 and years following he was Judge of the District Court. In 1844 he was one of the vice-presidents of the convention held at Baltimore which nominated Henry Clay for president. He continued his professional pursuits until near the close of his life, and did well his allotted work. His knowledge of law, dignity of character, and good sense thoroughly qualified him for the responsible positions which he held. As a judge he was upright and irreporachable. He and his wife were members of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

He married, May 12, 1812, Martha Mary, daughter of John Logan.

372. Edwin Chipman, third son of Hon. Nathaniel Chipman (127), was born in Rutland, Vt., July 27, 1792; died Jan. 1840. He lived in South Carolina, Georgia and

Alabama. Going to South Carolina in 1815 he studied law with his oldest brother, was admitted to the bar and practiced law for a time in partnership with his brother. Relinquishing his profession and engaging in the erection of mills near Walterboro, Ala., he became involved in debts which he could not pay. Then, in 1822, he suddenly disappeared and nothing was known of him by his kindred for sixteen years. In 1838, in a letter to his father, he made known the facts as follows: He left Walterboro without even one cent of money, taking only his wearing apparel and his horse and saddle. He rode seventy-five miles in twenty-four hours and stopping in Barnwell District, S. C., worked at the balcksmith's trade one year. For the next three years he worked at that trade in Bamburg, S. C., and Augusta, Ga. He taught school in Barnwell District one year and in that year married. Soon after that he moved to Montgomery County, Ala., and began to amass some wealth which was expended by illness in his family. He then began to trade in Coosa County, Ala., but was recalled to command the Montgomery Regiment against the Creek Indians. Then he became contractor for construction of a railroad between West Point and Montgomery, Ala. The letter closes with these words: "When I left Colleton District in South Carolina I adopted the name of Edward Cullen and am known by no other name in Alabama. The object of adopting that name and working at the blacksmith's trade was to prevent the possibility of discovery. * It has always been my intention, as soon as I could acquire the means, to pay off all demands against me, to resume the name of Edwin Chipman by legislative enactment, which would be necessary to legalize my land titles."

His death was caused by the recoil of levers used in boring an artesian well. Edwin Chipman (Cullen) married, 1826, Sarah Thompson of Barnwell District, S. C.

S.; and entering upon his duties at the opening te m he continued to discharge them until his death. He did the work of instruction thoroughly, and the record of his success as an instructor is found in the history of those whom he instructed. He was an enthusiast in the cause of education generally and especially as related to his own college; so that he was either the originator or promoter of every important object pertaining to that institution. "He consecrated to it his talents, his powers, his life. Its prosperity was the great object of his desire and pursuit. By his skillful management and indefatigable efforts the edefice was raised and will be a lasting monument to his energetic ardor." He was drowned while returning, with a party of students, from an excursion after minerals.

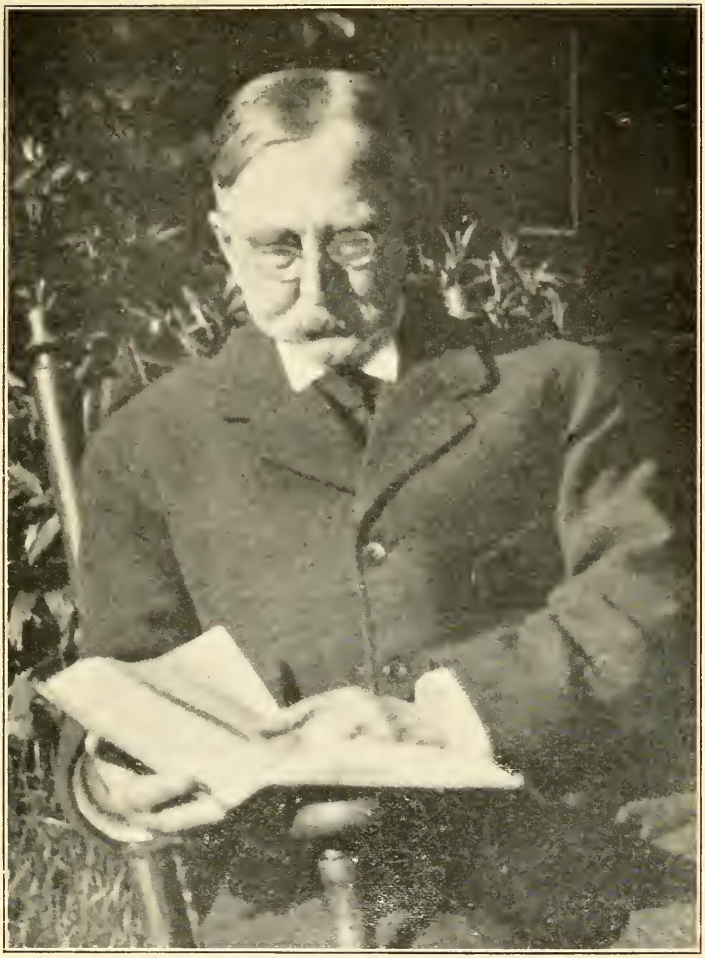
Was educated at Horton Academy and Acadia University, taking his L. L. B. from Harvard, 1869. He was called to the bar in 1869 and practiced law at Kentville, and was created a Q. C., 1884, by the



JOHN PRYOR CHIPMAN (871)

Marquis of Lansdowne. While practicing his profession he was associated with Hon. Robert L. Borden, K. C. M. G., at present Premier of Canada, and with Hon. E. L. Newcombe, K. C., at present Dept. Minister of Justice of Canada. He was twice elected Mayor of Kentville and elevated to the bench in 1890. He was a past D. D. G. M. of the Grand Lodge of Free Masons, an Oddfellow, member of the Royal Arcanum, and a Forrester.

Judge Chipman was always one of the most active and leading citizens of Kentville, and the town is largely indebted to him for its chief public utilities; and by his constant public interest and spirit he set a splendid example of citizenship. As a lawyer he commanded a large practice and won and merited the respect of the members of the bar as well as the confidence and esteem of the public. As a judge his decisions were marked with fairness and well balanced justice, and he carried out his judicial duties with becoming honor and diginity.

On June 10, 1875, he married Susan Mary, daughter of Robert and Margaret Brown of Halifax, N. S., who was born Nov. 21, 1853.

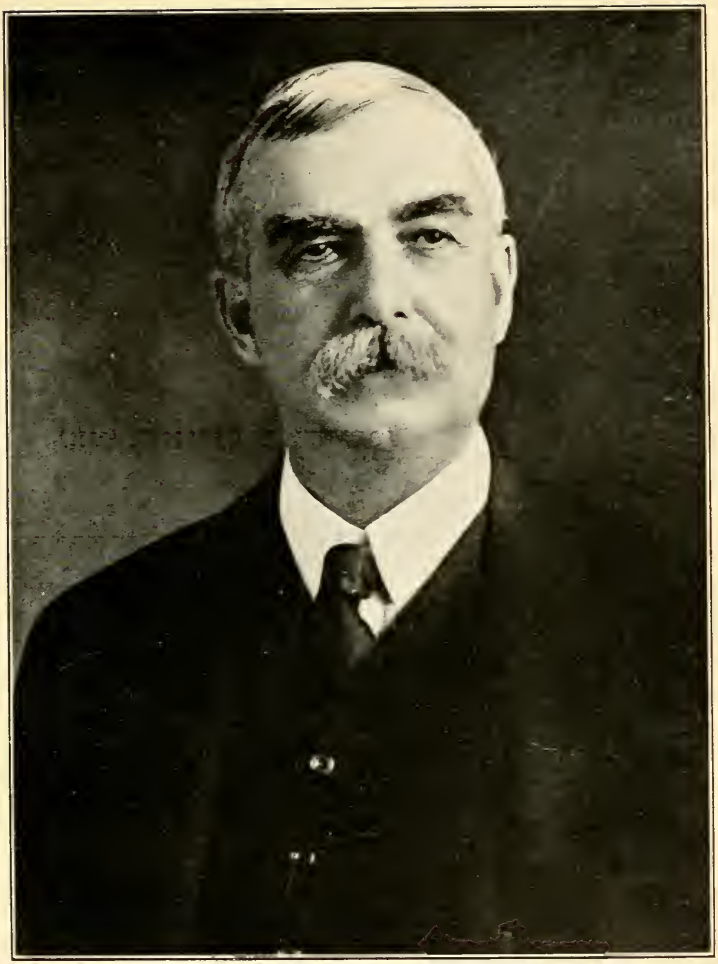
Graduated from Normal School at Tururo, N. S., 1866. Taught school at Upper Cornwallis, N. S., in 1866-67 and at Port Medway in 1867-68. Went to Boston in 1868 and was graduated from Bryant-Stratton Commercial College, and taught the practical classes in that college for six months. Went to Detroit, Mich., in 1868-69 in the employ of a timber company and later shipped timber on his own account to New York and New England, being the pioneer in shipping timber by rail from the West to the Atlantic States. During 1869 went to Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis and engaged in the shipment of wheat. Later went to California and spent nearly a year with Bancroft Printing & Publishing Company

In 1870 went to Japan with Ito, later the celebrated Count Ito, Premier of Japan. Introduced in Japan the modern system of printing. Made the first type and printed the first newspaper in Japanese. Established a Government printing office and paper mill. Remained in Japan until 1876, then returned to America. Went to Australia in 1879 where he now carries on a very extensive general mercantile business.

When the Boer War in South Africa had reached a critical stage, he organized at Sydney, Australia, a subscription fund to equip one thousand citizen soldiers under the name of the Bushmen's Contingent. The movement spread all over Australia and New Zealand and the public subscribed 440,000 pounds, and the governments of Australia and New Zealand then took over the military organization and sent about twenty thousand men to



HOLMES SAMUEL CHIPMAN (872)

South Africa. Lord Kitchener on behalf of the British government enrolled 20,000 more Australians for service in South Africa. Canada and India also joined the war in South Africa in consequence of this movement. The Kaiser made a fatal mistake in cabling Oom Paul, the president of the Transvaal, wishing him "Godspeed" in the war against the British, because it inspired the dominions overseas to come to the assistance of Great Britian and welded the empire together. When the great war in Europe started in August, 1914, the British Empire joined Great Britian without a moments hesitation.

On Aug. 1, 1882, he married Julia Anna Ventrillion, daughter of Edouard J. and Anne (Hamilton) Tortat*

1322. Charles Chipman, third son of David Chipman (575), was born in Frankford, Pa., October 24, 1842; resides at Philadelphia and Easton, Pa. Attended public schools until twelve years of age, when he left home to live with Ralph Lee, a farmer in Bucks County, Pa., and make his own living; remaining with Lee until sixteen years old, when he returned to Frankford and secured a position with Jeremiah Quickstall, an umbrella handle and cane manufacturer, with whom he lived and worked until the beginning of the Civil War, when he enlisted as a private in Company G, 5th Pa. Cavalry, said regiment being assigned to the Army of the Potomac and armies stationed in Virginia. He was mustered out as a sergeant in 1864 and returned to Philadelphia. Employed by the Bridesburg Manufacturing Company for one year, and in the meantime, as well as before going to war, realizing how sadly his education had been neglected, he engaged tuition in a private night school, working by day and studying by night, he succeeded in advancing in knowledge sufficiently to aid him in a successful career in later years.

In 1865 he started an express route between Frankford and Philadelphia, which he sold out and took the management of a flour and feed store, resigning this employment in 1866 to enter the employ of a window glass manufacturing firm, with whom he remained until 1873, when he resigned to enter the firm of Chipman & Nice, manufacturers of window glass, paints, oils and varnishes. This partnership lasting eleven years, and disolved by his withdrawal in order to advance the interests of his two sons.

In 1884 he bought a hosiery mil' at Germantown, and after running same for five years, he built the Wakefield Hosiery Mills and continued there until 1894. When his two sons became twenty-one years old they were given an interest in the business and the firm became Charles Chipman & Sons. In 1894, he retired and the business was removed to Easton, Pa., and continued under the name of Charles Chipman's Sons.

Since his retirement, he has written two books "The Rambles of the Denver Club" and "The Greatest Philgrim of the Mystic Shire." Resided in New Haven where he was for twelve years engaged in experimental work on automatic and special machinery until 1911, when he went to Springfield, Mass., for the Telegraphone Company and in 1916 went to Boston to do development work on the moving picture film. While in Springfield he was engaged in installing a dictating and recording machine by which the sound waves were magnetically recorded on the steel wire. While in charge of a demonstration of the Telegraphone at the Grand Central Palace Exposition, New York, in February, 1916, he was asked by the manager of a moving picture studio if the telegraphone could not be used to make pictures talk.

HARRY E. CHIPMAN (2536)

This idea started him to experimenting in the spring of 1917, and after three months effort he was able to record the voice on a moving picture film from any point in the room and reproduce it loudly and clearly to a distance of twenty-eight feet. About this time war conditions stopped further development of the talking film, and he accepted a responsible position with the Dupont Powder Co., at Anderson, Ind. He has the distinction of being the first man to produce and demonstrate a talking film that is at all times in perfect synchronism with the picture; and he is now ready to go ahead with the developing and perfecting of this invention.
